

Rethymon 12/3/2019

To whom it may concern

Dear Sir/Madam,

I know Ioanna Kalypso Glypti from 2016 when she was our guide for a group students of Social Anthropology who did their field work practice in Crete of the Cambridge university of UK.

Ioanna lectured and guided our students on themes of Cretan History and culture. Additionally, our students visited with Ioanna specific areas of Crete of archaeological interest.

Our collaboration with Ioanna Kalypso Glypti was excellent and appreciated by all.

Her ability to transmit information and to evoke the interest of all those participating.

I am convinced that Ioanna is a reliable exceptional professional that has all the knowledge and background as well as capacities needed for cooperation concerning her profession.

Aris Tsantiropoulos
Assistant Professor of Social Anthropology
University of Crete

